

Commission for
Communications Regulation

HEAD OF WHOLESALE COMPLIANCE

The Commission for Communications Regulation (ComReg) is the statutory body responsible for regulating electronic communications, postal services and premium rate services in Ireland. ComReg is a professional, multidisciplinary organisation whose responsibilities include the setting of regulatory policy and the monitoring and enforcement of regulatory obligations, in both the wholesale and retail communications markets, to ensure operator compliance and consumer protection. ComReg's structure is based on highly motivated cross-functional teams of professionals who are adaptable and committed to delivering quality results.

THE ROLE

ComReg wishes to appoint a Head of Wholesale Compliance. Reporting to the Director of Wholesale, the holder of this position will ensure that providers of Wholesale Telecommunications services within Ireland are operating in accordance with their regulatory obligations and that responsibilities relating to network integrity are upheld. Where necessary, the Head of Wholesale Compliance will be required to lead appropriate corrective actions, potentially including enforcement procedures.

THE INDIVIDUAL

This position requires an experienced senior manager with a strong track record and an excellent knowledge of the commercial, technical and legal aspects of compliance enforcement, preferably in telecommunications markets. The appointed person will be a clear decision maker, with exemplary analytical and assessment capabilities and the ability to lead a dynamic, multidisciplinary team.

Candidates must possess a Primary degree or equivalent in a relevant discipline, with a Masters or comparable qualification preferred.
